BUILDING A DYNAMIC DESTINATION Part 2

The March of the Titanosaurs exhibition

The tracksite was first discovered on Karoola Station by property owner Mike Elliott in 2000 when floodwaters changed the course of Snake Creek. While Mike recognised several small footprints, he didn’t initially recognise the large impressions as sauropod footprints. But, as the Museum excavation commenced in 2018, Mike reasoned that “...because of the sauropod bones that had been found in the region, these were likely their tracks.”

The tracksite was professionally surveyed prior to its relocation. The survey data was used to build a compacted gravel pad at

Dinosaur Canyon to the exact specifications and orientation of the original site and to replace the fossilised footprints exactly as they had been. Relocation of the tracksite began in earnest in September 2018 and continued for three years. The footprint layer, preserved as hard rock, was dismantled along existing cracks and moved in sections in a two- tonne trailer. As each section was removed at the site, it was loaded into the trailer and brought to the Museum where it was then refitted (in reverse) to the sections already in place. The tracksite depicts animals that were not threatened at the time, just strolling through the silt at a steady walking (or casual swimming or punting) pace. When the tracksite was covered with shallow water the traces left by crocodiles and turtles suggest that they were buoyed up in the water column but touching down on the silt to keep themselves moving. The sauropod trackways imply that they were social – living, or at least sometimes moving, in groups (possibly herds).

Bronze dinosaur sculptures

The two life-sized bronze sauropods that guard the entrance to the March of the Titanosaurs exhibition are modelled on Diamantinasaurus Matildae. These sauropods are 17m and 10m long and were cast in bronze by Thai Metal Crafters in Thailand from 3D-printed model files created by palaeo-artist Travis Tischler. On the concrete entrance plinth to the March of the Titanosaurs exhibition, two small bronze ornithopods and several tiny coelurosaurs greet visitors as they walk into the building.

Gondwana Stars Observatory

In 2019 The Jump-Up, the site of the Museum, was designated Australia's first International Dark- Sky Sanctuary because of its extraordinarily clear and dark skies. The Gondwana Stars Observatory is a raised open-topped building that will encourage visitors to participate in evening tourism experiences, particularly during the summer season, to see the spectacular night sky. The observatory is made of concrete tilt panels, rendered to resemble a huge meteorite in a crater. Its concrete viewing deck includes concrete seating, large telescopes and a storage room.

Conclusion

As part of today's celebration, the Honourable Stirling Hinchliffe MP officially opened the project with other key supporters and contributors. "The reality is the discoveries and the story represented here, have made a world-famous attraction. It is a testament to David and his family's passion. The Palaszczuk government has been very pleased to invest $4.9 million to support the development of the Dynamic Destination project."

"We have been able to see a lot more value delivered in that $4.9 million that you might see on any number of other given projects because of the passion, commitment and the personal hands-on work that David and his family have done," said Mr Hinchliffe. "The construction supported 16 jobs and six ongoing jobs, once it is fully operational. This is a great contribution to our recovery in this part of Queensland," he added. Around 300 people from across the region and interstate attended the official opening events and to be the first visitors through the new attractions. Mr Hinchliffe concluded, "As Tourism Minister it is a very proud moment to be part of opening a world-class museum here in Winton. Winton is the place to be."

OUTBACK JUNIOR CARNIVAL

Photostory by Rebecca Remfrey

On 15th and 16th May, Arthur Beetson Qld Outback Junior Carnival was held in Cloncurry with U14 & U16 boys and U14 & U17 girls teams from both Southern and Northern Teams competed against each other for much coveted selection into the Qld Outback team to compete in City v Country in Coolumberr in June. Southern teams were selected from Winton all the way south to Cunnamulla and everywhere in between. Northern were from Cloncurry/Mt Isa and the gulf communities. Kelly Remfrey represented Winton and the Central West on the Southern U16 boys team. Southern versed Northern twice on Saturday to show their skills and abilities to the selectors. While Northern came away with the win in both games, the Southern boys made sure they were not easy wins. Presentations of the selected teams were held at the Cloncurry Shire Hall, with the likes of Matt Scott present. Kelly was fortunate enough to be named alongside 4 other Central West and Southern Boys on the night. They will join a selection of Northern Boys to become team members on the 2021 QLD Outback U16 Boys Representative Team.

Good luck to all.

WINTON STATE SCHOOL BOYS MAKE IT TO STATE CHAMPIONSHIPS

Photostory by Archit Bele, Youth Sport and Recreation Officer for Winton Shire Council

It is great to see young people achieving but it is also wonderful that we are taking the time to acknowledge them – it shows that anyone can achieve, anywhere, with just the power of belief and support. Just like these two boys from Winton State School, Kelly Remfrey and Gabriel Hasted have been selected in the North-Western Regional Team to play for the State Championship later this month. For which two successful grant applications for financial assistance had been written on the behalf of Winton Shire Council. Along with this, a support application was written to a leading sports brand for which they have also been awarded a pair of Nike Football boots, presented to them by Mayor Gavin Basket and the Director of Community and Economic Development Jessica Greenaway.

FULL HOUSE FOR DUSTY

Photostory by Jeff Close

A sit down 2 course meal and a show. That was what was on offer at the Shire Hall recently when visiting artist Sharon Rowntree presented her one woman show DUSTY AND THE DIVAS. And what a programme. Sharon performed many of the hits of Dusty Springfield, Cilla Black, Lulu, Connie Francis, Sandy Shaw and Petula Clarke. The best singing along was for the Dolly Parton segment, and Nancy Sinatra's BOOTS was a sight and sound spectacular. The costumes were dazzling, (as were the wigs). The music of the 60's and 70's was a great opportunity for audience participation – and Sharon was accomplished. The FULL HOUSE sign went up and there was an overflow audience in the gallery.

TO NORMA – WITH THANKS

Photostory by Jeff Close

At a 'THANK YOU' function for retiring Corfield and Fitzmaurice Treasurer Norma Parker, Association President Nookie Durack made a presentation at the conclusion of the monthly meeting and before the doors opened for trade on another busy Saturday. Relying completely on volunteers, Norma had been a vital part of a team which has made good use of one of the oldest buildings in Winton.

Norma started as a volunteer in 2006 and a couple of years later was asked to be Treasurer, taking over from Judy Sale. There was a computer in those days, with the EFTPOS being introduced in 2019 and the banking being undertaken, Norma has seen a few changes over the years. Much more local product is on offer and sales have increased significantly. Norma recounted how she had started work in Gillespie Motors in 1961. "The best part of the volunteering has been when former Winton residents come back and often call in to Corfields for a chat." Norma wished new Treasurer Betty Coupe all the best, and was hoping to come back and do the occasional day at the shop.

QANTAS' EARLIEST LIVING PASSENGER?

Photostory by Jeff Close

When QANTAS CEO Allan Joyce and the QANTAS board visited Winton recently as part of the Winton – Birthplace of QANTAS celebrations, they were particularly interested in our claim that Winton identity John East was their earliest living passenger. John flew QANTAS when the company was only 20 years old. This is how it came about. John was born in 1930 and had family in Charleville. He was sent to board at the hostel there. Separate boys and girls hostels accommodated children from the west. "Because of the War and our financial situation, I couldn't go home during that whole year. At the end of the school year, I was booked on a QANTAS flight – Charleville to Winton. My Aunty, from the Wade Family, took me out to the Charleville Aerodrome. I had a cough at the time. The Pilot told Aunty that I couldn't fly because I was ill. Aunty explained that I hadn't seen my parents for a year and tears came to my eyes. The pilot relented, and said he would take me and would fly low and get me home. I didn't cough once on the trip home! I think it was 1940. We landed in "Muddy's Paddock". There was a tin shed there and no more. My Parents picked me up in a car and we drove to Cambeela – a property sold by the family in 1945. We still had Wyrallah property. I was at Charleville in 1940 and 1941. We took off from the old strip in January 1941 to return to Charleville."

From the book QANTAS and the Winton Story available at the Matilda Centre and at Corfield and Fitzmaurice.

WINTON DIAMANTINA DEVILS

Photostory by Captain/Coach Justin Smith

Last Saturday 15/5/21 the Winton Diamantina Devils hit the road to take on the Barcaldine Sandgoannas. Even though Winton were down on numbers and experience, the young Devils still started well and held their own throughout patches of the game before fatigue finally set in and the much more experienced Sandgoannas started finding holes in the Devils defence. The Barcaldine Sandgoannas ran out winners over the Winton Diamantina Devils 56 to 6. The score line doesn't reflect some of the quality efforts performed by some of the young Diamantina Devils. Congratulations to Kaillem Paterson in scoring his first try in A-Grade football. The North Gregory Hotel Man of the Match was fullback and Vice-Captain Kelland Elliott. This weekend the Devils are off to Ilfracombe to face The Longreach/Ilfracombe Tigers.
